Help Family Member Employees Find Their Place

"I'll never work for a family business again!" Somewhere, sometime a good employee has said this after a bad experience working for a family-owned company. Don't let it happen to you. This article suggests various ways to help family members find an appropriate place in the business without alienating or excluding non-family workers.

Hobby-Related Loss Deductions Are Disallowed, but Don't Give Up Hope

Hobbies are typically fun and they may be expensive. In some cases, hobbies (including those involving horses) lead to net losses. Before the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act became law, you could claim itemized deductions for hobby-related expenses up to the amount of income — if your primary motivation was profit, not fun. Now, however, itemized deductions are no longer available.

Benefits Education Boosts Employee Loyalty

We're living in an information age. While we can quickly research just about anything, having too much information can be more confusing than having too little. When it comes to benefit options, the roster is growing. And in many ways, that makes it harder for employees to choose. This article provides some guidance employers can use to help staff reach informed conclusions.
